كليـة عفت للأعمـــال
Effat College of Business

Students Names: Albatool Molah S21107218
Dana Abu Hajar S23108501
Raneem Khalifah. S21106977
Sojod AlKasimi. S23108670
Talah Alzuabi. S23108231

Instructor Name: Lidos dua

MKT 201

Final Project Report - FALL 2023

Table of content:

Abstract…….. 3

Introduction…… 4

Mission and objective…… 4

Swot Analysis ……..

STDP ……..……..

Product ……

Pricing Strategy ……

Promotion Strategies ……

Conclusion……

Reff……..

Abstract:
Nova Water Company is the subject of this marketing mix research, for which we utilized both qualitative and quantitative approaches. The study encompasses an exploration of the company's SWOT analysis, STDP strategy, product and pricing decisions, and promotion strategies. This report offers insightful information about the marketing mix elements that influence Nova Water's performance and image by using it as a case study.

Keywords: SWOT Analysis, STDP , Product , Pricing strategy , Promotion Strategies.

1- Introduction and History:

Nova is one of the most famous drinking water companies in Saudi Arabia, Nova water is extracted from natural and pure sources from the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, Nova natural drinking water is the sole and primary product of Health Water Bottling Co. Ltd, The company was founded in 1973 and it maintained its quest to always be innovative and capitalizing upon 50 years of experience within the bottled water industry. Nova water is distinguished by its purity and distinctive taste. It originates from deep protected groundwater, Nova's factory is located in Se'ed area, which is located in Ramah governorate,120 km east of Riyadh, far away from urban structures and external pollution.

2- Mission and Objectives:

According to the official Nova water website Nova's factory uses the latest production technologies, associated with a fully automated bottling process, that adheres to the highest health and safety standards. Since then, they've been providing the highest quality water standards that are directly bottled from the source. Therefore, the ultimate goal of Nova is to keep its consumers hydrated and healthy through water that contains all necessary minerals and by offering various sizes of bottled water that will ensure freshness in each sip to fulfill the customer's needs.

Marketing Strategy

To build a strong and successful marketing strategy, the understanding of the consumer's needs is crucial. As a result of captivating the target audience and elevating the brand.Nova Water has developed a thorough marketing strategy that focuses on segmentation, targeting, positioning, and differentiation. In this report we will explore each of these concepts and how Nova Water utilizes them to stand out in a competitive market.

Step 1: Segmentation: The first step in building a customer-driven marketing strategy is to begin with the process of segmentation. This process involves dividing the market into smaller segments. There are 4 types of consumer markets:

- Geographic
- Demographic
- Psychographic
- Behavioral

Nova water divides consumers based on all 4 consumer markets.

Geographic segmentation- Nova Water employs geographical segmentation to target various regions in Saudi Arabia, considering their unique characteristics and market demands. By analyzing factors like climate, cultural preferences, and local water consumption habits, Nova Water tailors its marketing strategies and product offerings to align with the diverse needs of each region. For instance, in arid climates, the company may emphasize the hydrating benefits of their water, highlighting its refreshing qualities. In culturally diverse areas, Nova Water might customize packaging or promotional materials to resonate with local traditions, fostering a sense of familiarity. Moreover, in regions with a strong eco-conscious population, the company may emphasize its commitment to sustainable practices and eco-friendly packaging. These examples showcase Nova Water's nuanced strategies, ensuring that their products align seamlessly with the unique characteristics and preferences of each geographical segment. Through strategic geographical segmentation, Nova Water optimizes its market penetration, better meeting the preferences of consumers in various locations.

Demographic segmentation- Nova Water strategically employs demographic segmentation to tailor its bottled water offerings. Analyzing factors such as age, income, lifestyle, and education allows Nova Water to create targeted marketing campaigns. For fitness enthusiasts, the focus is on promoting the water's health benefits and mineral content. In high-income areas, Nova Water positions its products as a premium hydration option. Health-conscious consumers are assured of the water's mineral composition as an essential part of a balanced lifestyle. Young professionals are targeted with the convenience of on-the-go packaging, catering to their dynamic lives. Families are assured of purity and safety, making Nova Water a reliable choice for all members. Environmental consciousness is emphasized through sustainable practices and eco-friendly packaging. These examples highlight Nova Water's effective use of demographic segmentation to resonate with specific audiences and meet their unique expectations, ultimately enhancing brand loyalty and market presence.

Psychographic segmentation-Nova Water strategically employs psychographic segmentation to comprehend the deeper motivations, values, and lifestyle choices of its target consumers. By exploring factors such as attitudes, interests, and cultural influences, Nova Water tailors its marketing messages and product positioning to resonate with specific psychographic segments. For health and wellness enthusiasts, the company emphasizes the holistic benefits of their water, aligning it with a mindful and health-focused lifestyle. In targeting eco-conscious individuals, Nova Water highlights its commitment to sustainable and environmentally friendly practices, appealing to those with a strong environmental ethos. This psychographic approach enables Nova Water to connect with consumers on a more profound level, establishing a brand image that aligns with the values and aspirations of different psychographic segments in the market.

Behavioral segmentation-Nova Water strategically employs behavioral segmentation to understand and cater to diverse consumer behaviors and preferences. Analyzing factors like usage patterns, brand loyalty, and purchasing habits, Nova Water tailors its marketing strategies to align with distinct consumer behaviors. For health-conscious consumers, the emphasis is on the water's health benefits and nutritional value. Environmentally conscious individuals are targeted through Nova Water's commitment to sustainability and eco-friendly practices. This targeted approach enhances Nova Water's ability to connect with consumers on a deeper level, providing a product that seamlessly aligns with specific behaviors and preferences, fostering stronger brand-consumer relationships and promoting loyalty across different segments.

Step 2: Targeting: Market Targeting defines the specific group to whom a company wants to market their product. Since water is an essential need for everyone,Nova Water manages to serve all segments. The four targeting strategies are:

- Undifferentiated (mass) marketing
- Differentiated (segmented) marketing
- Concentrated (niche) marketing
- Micro marketing

Nova Water employs a diverse range of strategies, encompassing both mass market and specific consumer group targeting. The company adopts a differentiated, segmented marketing strategy, concentrating on custom approaches for distinct consumer segments. With the overarching objective of becoming the primary water source in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, Nova Water utilizes social media platforms for engaging campaigns, sponsorships, and collaborations across all target markets. Employing keywords such as “pure,” “sustainable,” and “healthy” in their marketing signifies a focus on health enthusiasts and environmentalists. Nova Water collaborates with fitness influencers and sponsors sporting events to reach these audiences. Additionally, the company targets families, partnering with parenting blogs and websites to underscore the purity and safety of its products for children and family consumption

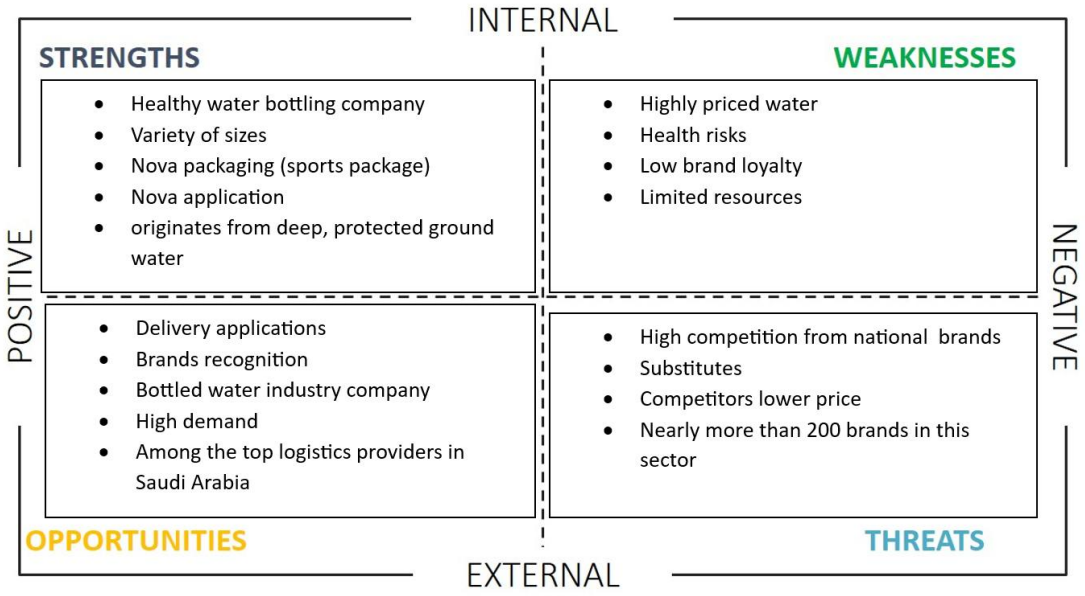

Step 3: Differentiation:Marketing differentiation involves setting a company's products or services apart from competitors. In the face of intense competition, Nova Water strategically gains a competitive edge through various approaches. Nova Water distinguishes itself by prioritizing eco-friendly materials, employing low water usage systems in production, and forming partnerships with organizations dedicated to preserving natural resources. What truly sets Nova Water apart from other brands is its unparalleled quality, showcasing the company's commitment to delivering the purest form of hydration. Additionally, Nova Water's environmental consciousness adds to its appeal, offering consumers the opportunity to actively contribute to reducing plastic waste and preserving the environment by choosing their products. Whether you're an athlete, a busy professional, or a health-conscious parent, Nova Water offers a product tailored to meet your specific needs.

Step 4: Positioning:Positioning involves identifying how consumers perceive and value a product based on essential attributes. Nova Water strategically positions itself as a brand synonymous with high-quality, refreshing hydration. By emphasizing the superior taste, purity, and health benefits of their water, Nova Water positions itself as the preferred choice for individuals seeking the best hydration solution. The brand maintains consistent messaging across various marketing channels to reinforce this positioning, creating a robust brand image in the minds of consumers.

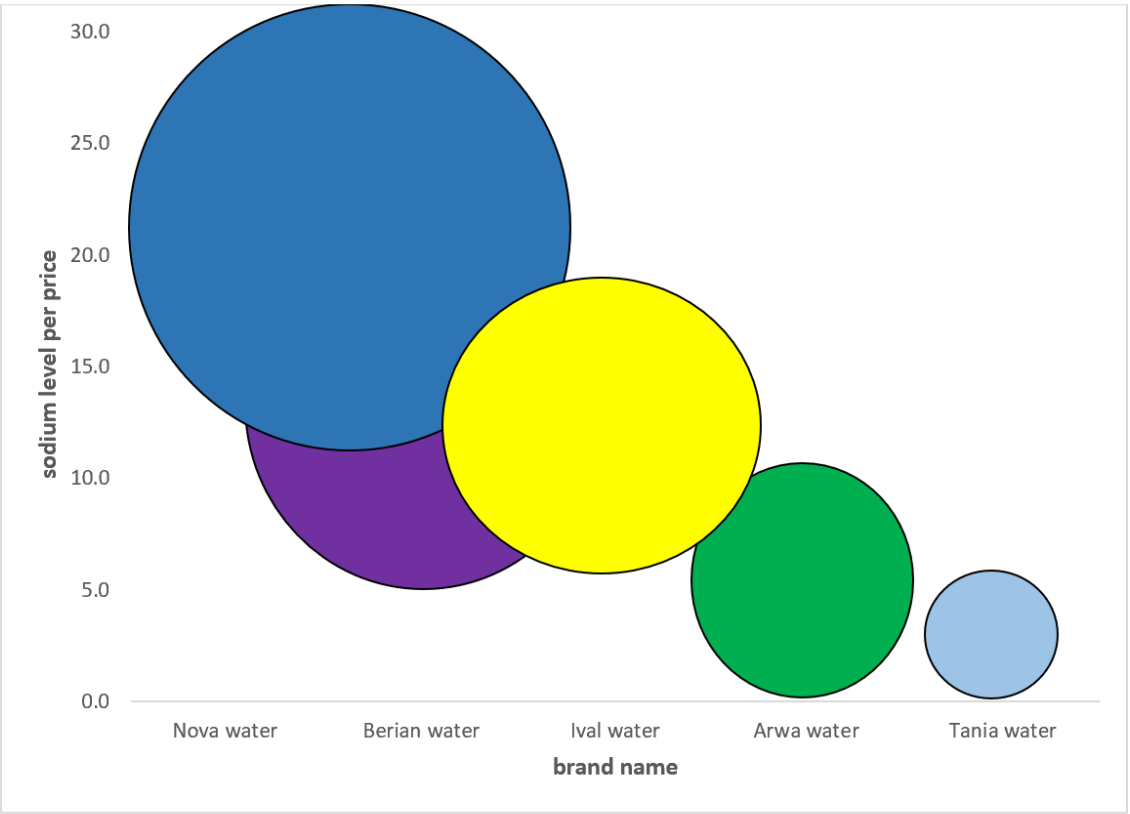

SWOT ANALYSIS

SWOT analysis is the focus upon the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats facing a business internally and externally. It is widely used in business, strategic planning, project management, and various other fields to assess the current state of an entity and inform decision-making

NOVA WATER POSITIONING MAP

A positioning map visually represents how a brand is perceived in comparison to its competitors based on certain attributes that are important to consumers. In the case of Nova Water, we consider two key attributes: "sodium level per price" and "brand name." The positioning map will place Nova Water in relation to its competitors on these two dimensions.

NOVA POSITIONING STATEMENT

"Nova Water Company is dedicated to providing environmentally sustainable hydration that is pure and refreshing. For people and businesses looking for a dependable and environmentally friendly hydration option, our carefully filtered water, sourced ethically, offers a superior and environmentally conscious answer."

In order to understand the effect of water pricing strategy, this research will interpret some of the strategies:

- value-based pricing is based on the customer,and how they perceive the value of the product, and how much it is worth.
- cost based pricing is based on the production cost, adding a percentage of the manufacturing cost to the selling price. considering : Fixed cost: Rent storage space Variable cost: Shipping charge.
- competition is based on the other competitors, same as them, or either higher or lesser. Nova VS Berain : 40 bottles 330mL Case , cost Nova = 21.48, same as Berain = 21.48 .
- product mix pricing, based on the different lines the company produces. Nova's everyday range Nova glass sparkling Nova glass range Nova big format.

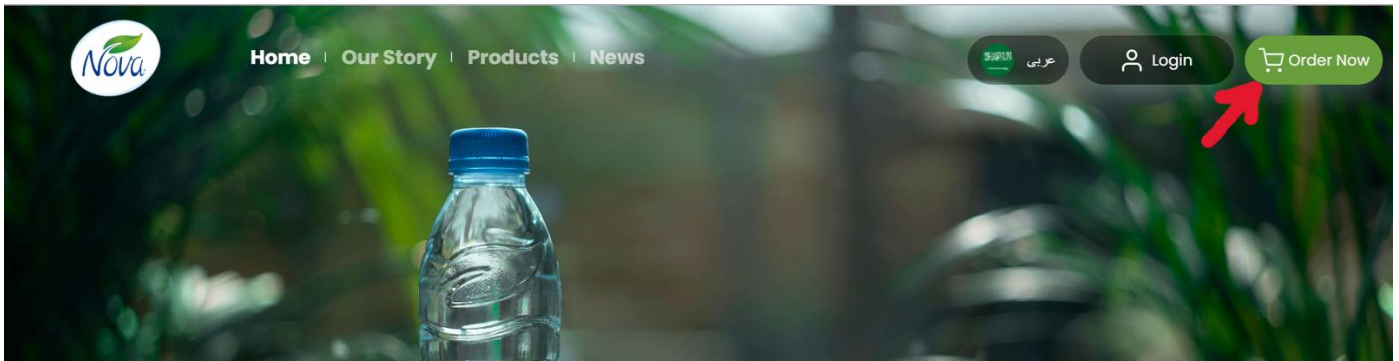

Product:

Nova Water is considered one of the most convenient products in its category. Made of natural water, it has succeeded in adopting a qualitative strategy to meet consumers' demands by providing various sizes of Nova bottled water. It goes through three levels:

Customer Core Value: The ultimate benefit from the product to the customers in Nova Water's case is to stay hydrated and not feel thirsty.

Actual Product: This is based on the product's quality, design, and its main benefit, which is to maintain the balance of body fluids.

Augmented Product: The services that come after purchasing the product, such as delivery service, warranty, and product support contact. As shown in the picture, Nova Water offers the delivery service:

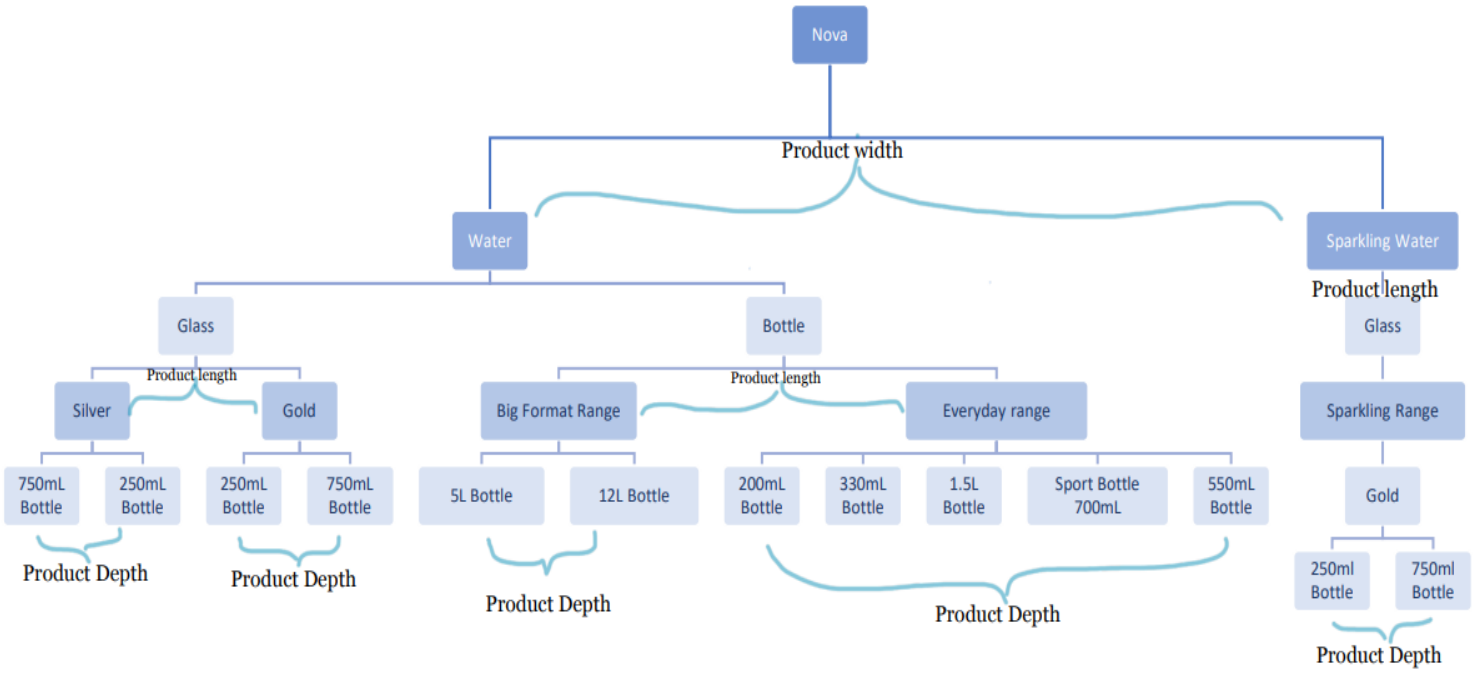

Everyday Range: The Everyday range comes in various sizes, catering to different segments of customers (regular cases and sports bottles)

Big-Format Range: The Big-Format range comes in two sizes, (12L,and 5 L)

Glass Range: The Glass range comes in different types (Glass still and Glass sparkling water), and it serves formal events.

Nova's water product mix is limited, consisting of two distinct lines, three different product variations, and a total of 13 products within these lines

A product mix consists of all the product line and items, offered by the company.

Product mix width: is the number of different product lines in the same company.
Product mix length: is the total number of items the company carries within its product lines.
Product mix depth: is the number of versions(size, color, flavor) offered of each product in the line.

Proposed ideas for Expansion and growth

Here are several ideas for expanding and growing Nova Water through marketing:

1. New Product Varieties:

Introduce new water product varieties, such as flavored water infused with natural ingredients or specialized formulations catering to specific health benefits. This can attract a broader consumer base and diversify Nova Water's product offerings.

2. International Market Expansion:

Explore opportunities for international market expansion, identifying regions with a demand for premium bottled water. Tailor marketing strategies to the cultural and demographic nuances of each target market to enhance brand relevance.

3. E-commerce Presence:

Strengthen Nova Water's online presence by investing in an intuitive and user-friendly e-commerce platform. Implement digital marketing strategies, including online promotions, social media campaigns, and influencer collaborations, to drive online sales.

4. Subscription Services:

Introduce subscription services for regular customers, offering convenient delivery options and exclusive promotions. This approach can foster customer loyalty and provide a consistent revenue stream.

5. Educational Content:

Develop informative and engaging content about the benefits of hydration, water quality, and environmental sustainability. Utilize blogs, videos, and social media to educate consumers, positioning Nova Water as an authority in the industry.

6. Community Engagement:

Actively engage with local communities through sponsorship of events, participation in environmental initiatives, and collaboration with local businesses. Building a strong community presence can enhance brand trust and loyalty.

7. Partnerships with Fitness Influencers:

Collaborate with fitness influencers to promote Nova Water as the ideal hydration solution for health-conscious individuals. Leverage influencers' reach on social media platforms to increase brand visibility among target audiences.

8.Innovative Packaging:

Introduce innovative and sustainable packaging solutions, such as eco-friendly materials or biodegradable options. Highlight these initiatives in marketing campaigns to appeal to environmentally conscious consumers.

9. Limited Edition Releases:

Create limited edition bottled water releases tied to special events, seasons, or collaborations. This strategy generates excitement, encourages product exploration, and attracts attention from a wider audience.

10. Customer Loyalty Programs:

Implement a customer loyalty program rewarding frequent purchasers with exclusive discounts, early access to new products, or special promotions. This encourages repeat business and strengthens customer relationships.

11. Interactive Campaigns:

Launch interactive marketing campaigns, such as contests, challenges, or user-generated content initiatives. Encourage consumers to share their Nova Water experiences on social media, creating a buzz and expanding the brand's reach organically.

12. Health and Wellness Partnerships:

Form partnerships with health and wellness brands, gyms, or wellness retreats. Joint marketing efforts can mutually benefit both brands and tap into a shared target audience interested in leading a healthy lifestyle.

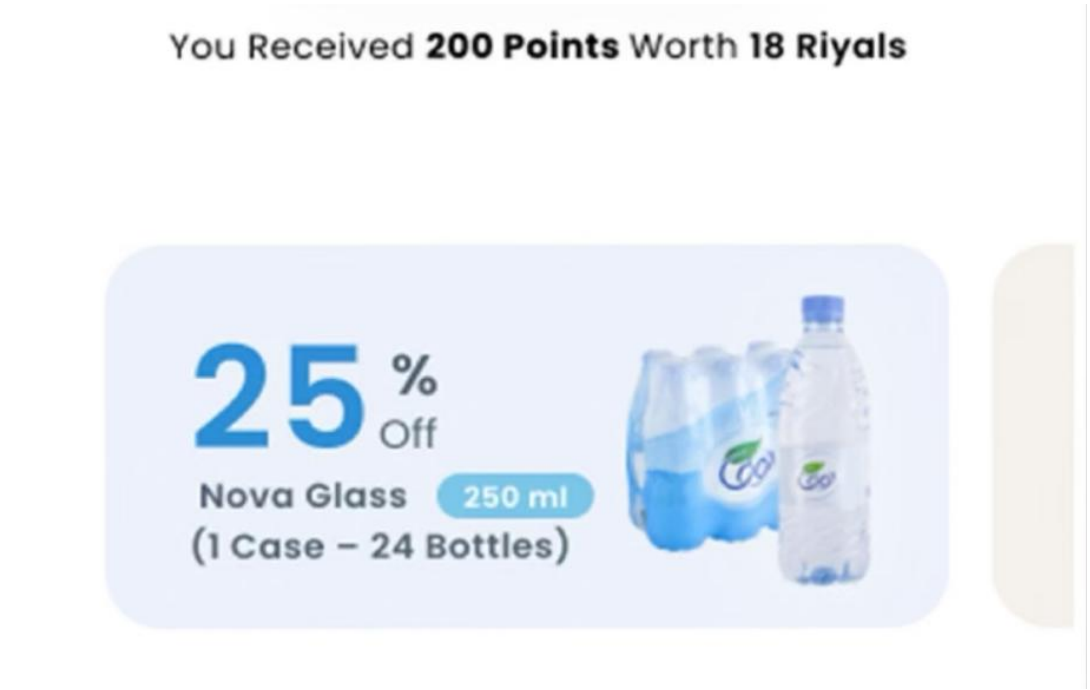

By combining these strategies, Nova Water can create a comprehensive and dynamic marketing plan that fosters growth, expands its consumer base, and strengthens its position in the bottled water market.

Promotion Strategies:

-Advertising refers to any compensated method of presenting and promoting ideas, products, or services by a clearly identified sponsor. In the case of Nova Water, their advertising strategy predominantly centers on online platforms, leveraging social media ads, sponsored content, and video advertisements across various websites and applications. Additionally, they employ outdoor advertising tactics, utilizing billboards, posters, and signage in public spaces.

-Sales promotions are temporary incentives designed to drive product or service purchases. Nova Water Company effectively employs diverse promotional strategies, including special discounts and exclusive coupons, to engage customers, foster purchases via their website and to add more benefits to the customer's loyalty points that costumers can use to exchange them for more nova water!

-Personal selling involves direct interaction by a company's sales representatives to engage customers, facilitate sales, and cultivate lasting customer relationships. For instance, Nova Water utilizes personal selling through dedicated booths and moving water stations that are available in marathons or sport related events to establish direct connections and foster meaningful relationships with customers.

-Public relations involves establishing positive relationships between a company and its audience by securing favorable publicity, shaping a strong corporate image, and effectively managing any negative information. Nova Water, as a water company, actively engages in public relations. They notably participate in health and sports events, such as Formula One 2023, demonstrating their commitment to community engagement and promoting wellness

-Direct and digital marketing: Nova Water maintains an active presence across various social media platforms, interacting with customers through interesting content and quick responses. This active participation not only boosts brand visibility but also nurtures strong, lasting relationships with customers

Conclusion

Since its establishment in 1973, Nova Water has demonstrated consistent growth and a commitment to becoming the premier water brand in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. With a vision aligned with Saudi Arabia's 2030 objective of a sustainable water industry, Nova Water employs comprehensive strategies, including SWOT analysis, STPD, pricing, and promotion strategies. These tactics not only distinguish them in a competitive marketplace but also contribute to their ongoing success. This project has underscored the paramount importance of marketing research in the success of companies. Understanding and implementing strategies, staying adaptable in a dynamic market, and fostering creativity are pivotal aspects of effective marketing. Nova Water serves as an exemplar of these principles, embodying reliability and excellence in the bottled water industry. With a dedication to purity and quality, Nova Water provides a refreshing and clean drinking experience, going beyond mere thirst-quenching to symbolize a commitment to well-being and unwavering quality. Nova Water stands as a testament to the enduring values that define a successful and respected brand.

References

Davies, Sam Thomas. "The Best Event Marketing Strategy for Food and Beverage." Sleeknote, 6 July 2023, sleeknote.com/advanced/best-practices/the-best-event-marketing-strategy-for-food-and-beverage.

"Brand Positioning in the Food and Beverage Market: 5WPR." Public Relations Blog | 5W PR Agency | PR Firm, 29 Aug. 2023, www.5wpr.com/new/brand-positioning-in-a-competitive-food-and-beverage-market/.

Nova, novawater.com/layout/home?gclid=CjwKCAiApaarBhB7EiwAYiMwqv5R1Nr7b1_S73u6lNJ1dCxBEL5VX7Pzsr_YV2t0gqv_ffbj71Q81hoCujUQAvD_BwE. Accessed 1 Dec. 2023.